Presentation: International Monetary Specialists and Greenberg Traurig

Speakers: John Golding, CEO - International Monetary Specialists: Foreign Exchange and Cash Delivery Systems

Yoram Keinan, Shareholder - Greenberg Traurig: US and International Taxation of Financial Products and Transactions, Taxation of Financial Institutions

Mr. Golding has over 15 years experience in International Currency Trade and Derivatives. John has always had great interest in the way Cash circulated through the world and how it is accounted for. As CEO and developer of international banking products in Prosignal.net and Royal Pacific, he discovered a tremendous inefficiency between the way companies traded their Cash and the actual Market place. John cofounded IMS to bring to light and educate International Companies as to these discrepancies and bring solutions to a $144B per day reporting Gap in the world of FX. John has an extensive background in managing substantial portfolios in Private Loans and Real Estate. In addition to finance, John likes to surround himself with inspiring people and hopes to one day share their stories through theater or Hollywood cinema, beginning with a true story about religious oppression during the Dictatorship of Nicolae Ceausescu, currently in pre-production and titled "Peter's Candle".

Mr. Keinan has more than ten years of experience in tax law both in the United States and Israel, Mr. Keinan focuses on US and international taxation of financial products and institutions and represents major banks and investment firms. Prior to joining Greenberg Traurig's Tax Practice in New York, Yoram served as a senior manager with Ernst & Young's national Tax Department in Washington D.C.
